

Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza Virus Survival Times

Understanding the survival times of the Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza (HPAI) virus on various surfaces and under different conditions is crucial for controlling its spread. Below are approximate survival times with steps for reducing risks.

Reference: Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) Facts about Avian Influenza

Note: Survival times are approximate and may vary by HPAI subtype and conditions. For specific guidance, consult a veterinarian or the Canadian Food Inspection Agency.

AnimalHealthCanada

This document was produced by the Emergency Management Division of Animal Health Canada to enhance communication to smallholders on issues of importance regarding Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza (HPAI) in coordination with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency, industry and provincial governments. For further assistance and biosecurity resources, contact info@animalhealthcanada.ca or visit www.animalhealthcanada.ca